

Want to protect yourself from the impact of a recession in the tech industry?

Keep swiping till the end to discover more useful information.

Rithikesh Surthi

Learn new skills and stay up-to-date on technology trends:

The tech industry is constantly evolving, and staying current on new technologies and skills will make you more valuable to employers.

Consider taking online courses or attending workshops to improve your skills.

01

Rithikesh Surthi

Network and build relationships:

Building a strong network of contacts in the tech industry can open up new job opportunities and provide valuable connections during a recession. Attend industry events and meetups, and make an effort to stay in touch with people you meet.

02

Rithikesh Surthi

Build a portfolio:

A strong portfolio of work can help you stand out to potential employers and showcase your skills. Consider creating a website or blog to showcase your work and accomplishments.

03

Rithikesh Surthi

Be open to different types of roles:

During a recession, job opportunities may be limited, so be open to different types of roles that may not be your ideal position but can still be valuable to your career development.

04

Rithikesh Surthi

Be prepared to pivot:

Be ready to adapt your career if necessary. The tech industry is versatile and has many different fields, so if one area is hit hard by the recession, you can pivot and find new opportunities.

05

Rithikesh Surthi

Embrace remote work:

Remote work will be a trend that will continue to grow in the tech industry, be prepared for it and learn how to work and communicate efficiently remotely.

06

Rithikesh Surthi

Diversify your income streams:

Consider freelancing or starting a side business to create additional streams of income.

07

Rithikesh Surthi

Learn about the recession-proof tech fields:

Artificial Intelligence, Cybersecurity and Cloud computing are some of the fields that will continue to grow in the future, learn about them and invest in them.

08

Rithikesh Surthi

WERE YOU
ABLE TO FIND
ANY USEFUL
INFORMATION
IN THIS POST?

FOLLOW ME FOR
MORE SUCH CONTENT

Rithikesh Surthi

FOR GOOD KARMA:

